

ENTRY SPEECH (said by Emma and Lily before starting and entering the « CDI trench »)

Emma : Hello everyone. The man you have to look for is called lieutenant Tommy Parker. We know he comes from Sussex, England.

Lily : Who knows ? Maybe one brave soldier of your squadron will be smart enough to understand where Lieutenant Tommy lies with that letter from his headquarters and written by his General. It seems that if you can decipher the coded message in that letter, you will be able to deactivate the grenade we found and enable everybody to keep safe this time...

Emma : So is it clear to everybody ? You MUST find Lieutenant Parker, take that letter he should have in his helmet. To succeed in that hard mission , you must use all the clues you can find along the trench to find out the encoded message to deactivate that bloody grenade, right ?

Lily : Be brave and try to keep safe ! We can help you all along if you need us, don't forget ! All right ? Go !
